DAVE NEMETH

Dave Nemeth, a qualified designer, has held many senior positions with leading retail groups over 20 years.

Owner of Trend-Forward, a trend consulting business, he is often referred to as one of SA's leading trend analysts & creative thinker. He produces an annual trend forecast focusing on the dynamic changes that will affect business and the way in which we do it. The company collaborates with some of SA's best minds to find solutions for companies. From full scale Business model reinvention to the creative & content direction of social media and blogs and redesigning complete retail experiences.

He is often called upon for his views and is no stranger to both TV and Radio. He also writes for various publications including some leading business publications.

Often a keynote speaker at conferences and debates, his energetic approach has ensured continual growth on these platforms.

He is also the founder of Africa's very first design thinking Conference, which was successfully launched in 2015.

Coenie de Villiers

Unlock the power of whole-brain thinking & creativity in a fun & informative session with award-winning musician, Coenie de Villiers.
